MSTC Graduates Announce Change In Teaching Jobs

Vinz, Weir, Feyereisen, Benidt, Strand, Sandburg, Eckholm, And Griswold Will Move to New Positions.

Despite delay of school board elections until July, which checks the placement of teachers, eight M. S. T. C. alumni have recently obtained new teaching positions.

Leland Vinz, Frazee, '29, who has been teaching in the Junior high school at Leeds, N. D., will take over the duties of principalship in the grade school at Bottineau, N. D. Vinz, now attending school here, has been head coach at Leeds and will supervise football and track along with his new duties at Bottineau.

Lucille Weir, Fargo, B. E. '36, has accepted a position as primary teacher in the public schools of Manistique, Michigan. She has been an instructor in the public school at Leonard, N. D., this past year.

A 1934 graduate, Kathryn Feyereisen, Perham, who has been teaching at St. Cloud, has been appointed to a position in Des Moines, Iowa, where she will be instructor of social studies in the upper intermediate grades.

Martha Benidt, Lidgerwood, N. D., graduate of 1933, who has been teaching in the primary grades at the Oak Mound affiliated school, has accepted a first grade position in Ortonville.

Esther Strand, Ada, '37, will go to school district 48, Norman county, to teach.

June Eckholm, Elbow Lake, '37, will teach in District No. 1, Grant county.

Lorraine Griswold, Minneapolis, '37, is to teach at District 11, Clay county.

Marie Sandburg, Kennedy, '37, will go Revial school, Kittson county.

Library Schedules Course of Training

Miss Marian Phillips, librarian from the Moorhead Public Library, gave a talk last Wednesday, the first of a series which has been arranged for students interested in school library work. All of these interesting lectures will be given in room 205 at 2:00 p. m. unless scheduled otherwise.

Other addresses to be given are: June 30, July 7 and July 14.

Miss Jones Has Guest

Miss Adele Jones of St. Paul has for the past week been a guest of her sister, Miss Alfreda Jones, M. S. T. C. resident nurse.

Art Quartette Has Pleasing Comment

Press comments concerning Harold Ayres, first violinist with the Minneapolis Art Quartette which is playing in Weld Hall tonight, are unusually favorable. The Chicago Tribune praises his "vitality and vibrancy." The Chicago Daily News commends his "mechanical dexterity." Summer school students of last year who heard Mr. Ayres will certainly agree with critics who laud this musician's power to inspire "spontaneous applause."

Mr. Ayres, with his second violinist, Theodore Ptashne; violinist Meyer Douglas, and cellist James Messeas, will present the following program, including eleven selections, at 8:30 this evening: Quartette op. 18, No. 2, Beethoven; Quartette by Tailleferre; and Quartette op. 96, by Anton Dvorak.

COLLEGE MOURNS UNTIMELY DEATH OF HAWLEY GIRLS

The tragic death of Evelyn Lewis and Beryl Vingate of Hawley, brought members from the College faculty and student body to Hawley last Friday to attend the funeral of the two girls.

Miss Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lewis, was a Freshman in the College this last year, and while here she took part in many extra-curricular activities, being a member of the band and of the Beta Chi social sorority.

Miss Beatrice Lewis, registrar's assistant at the College, and Luverne Lewis, a graduate of a year ago, sister and brother of Evelyn.

Silent Silence; Streetcars Bussed

No longer will the silent streets of Moorhead be filled with that dreary grinding, nor will the frosty winter air resound with the scream of whirling wheels on the icy tracks. Gone and departed are these familiar sounds, as the streetcars, which for as long as oldest student can remember have linked the college with uptown and points west, have been retired from active service on this side of the river. Time has marched on and the course of progress has descended upon us, replacing the yellow perils with green decked monsters—a noseless and noiseless variety of the bus family. The only drawback to the whole thing is that on rainy days one cannot stand inside McLean Hall and wait for the bus as of old, for the motor vehicle whirls the corner and is gone before you can say "boo."

Vinz Marries Over Week-end; Receive Gift From Friends

As the ancient Hebrews were blessed with showers of locusts, so was Leland Vinz blessed with a shower of cockroaches and sundry bugs after his marriage last week-end. The insects, properly prepared and dressed for the occasion, were presented to him by fellow students of the entomology class as an expression of good wishes.

Mr. Vinz, who is a student at the College during the summer session, has been at Leeds, N. D., teaching in the Junior high school of that city. Because of the extreme difference of the prospective bridegroom, the bride's name has not been disclosed. Attending the Moorhead State Teachers College in preparation for teaching, Vinz has been prominent in many extra-curricular activities in both the athletic and publications departments of the College, and this summer he is taking an active part in turning out the summer edition of the MiSTiC. Next week's paper will be under his editorship.

Publication Heads Elected For Term

Editors of the four remaining issues of the summer MiSTiC were elected at a combined business and social meeting of the staff at the home of Mr. Murray, publication adviser, last Tuesday.

Henry Stevenson is editing this week's paper, Leland Vinz will head next week's issue, Arlene Askegaard takes the editor's chair on July 12, and Charles Jahr will head the staff for the final edition on July 19. Working under these people as desk editors will be Marion Collins, June Eckholm, and Eleanor Wold, in that order. Donald Tescher holds that job for this issue.

Lambda Phi Sigma Organizes for Term

Lambda Phi Sigma, honorary education fraternity, promises to be a flourishing organization on the campus this summer, twenty-five members being present at the first meeting in Ingleside last Thursday evening.

Officers elected for the summer are: president, Charlotte Rudh of Rothsay; vice-president, Frances Rossmeisl, Red Lake Falls; secretary, Alice Skottem, St. Hilaire; treasurer, William Peterson, Moorhead; and keeper of the records, Mary Nygaard, Halstad.

Tentative plan were made for a picnic during the summer school session. Refreshments were served.

Wenck And Norin Back To Teach In Music Department

Both Instructors Return After Year's Absence; Wenck Has Masters Degree In Music

On duty this summer, two members of the Music department are back after a year's absence. Miss Maude Wenck, instructor in public school music and supervisor of music in the Training School, has been in attendance at Northwestern university, receiving her master's degree from that institution this spring. Miss Wenck directs the Euterpe Singers, women's singing organization.

Wenck

Lawrence Norin, graduate of the College, has spent the year in Los Angeles, California. During the year he did professional accompanying for artists on the coast, besides taking advanced work in organ and piano. He made an extended tour throughout the Southwest with Ish-ti-ope, well known Indian baritone. Mr. Norin was also assistant organist at the Hollywood First Methodist church.

Norin

He will teach organ and piano throughout the year at M. S. T. C. and will be heard in a concert soon.

PSI DELTA KAPPA'S MEET TO PLAN COMING SUPPER

Meeting informally last Wednesday night, members of the Psi Delta Kappa sorority made plans for a supper to be held in Ingleside this coming Wednesday night at 6 p. m. Approximately twenty-five Fargo-Moorhead members of the group are expected to attend the affair, following which they will go to the Amphion chorus program.

Alice Skottem, president of the sorority's alumni, will preside over the meeting in Room 202 throughout this term. Members now on the campus are Kathryn Freyereisen, Rachel Askegaard, Mildred Casperson, Bernice Millar, Mildred Anderson, Ruth Story, Adeline Bjerkness, Florence Powell, and Alice Skottem.

Miss Owens, Miss Bieri, and Donald Tescher spent the week-end at the Bieri-Owens cottage on Killarney Beach, Fair Hills.

Get In The Swim!

"8 Deaths by Drowning in Moorhead!" . . . a headline in a recent issue of the Moorhead News . . . should serve as a warning to every person who might be vacationing near a lake or river this summer or during any future vacation period. The tragic death of a schoolmate by drowning drives home with a vengeance the necessity of learning to be at ease in the water, especially in this day when lakeside vacations are so common.

The College pool offers to every M. S. T. C. student the opportunity of learning to swim. Expert supervision is available for the beginner, and the pool is open every week at designated periods. Since swimming has become an essential part of modern education . . . not only as a safeguard, but as a means of keen sport and enjoyment for the individual. Students of the College are urged to avail themselves of their privilege in this modern institution . . . instruction in the College pool.

Incidentally ----

Social life held the upper hand around school this week, with first the picnic Tuesday afternoon, and then the initial social hour of the year on Wednesday night. Both events were apparently highly successful from the fun-producing view-point, in fact we heard some say that the Wednesday evening affair was more enjoyable than any held during the regular year.

One of the most amusing sights that has reached these eyes in quite a while was the terrific sprinting around the basepaths at the picnic of "Sliv" (Judge Puffle) Nemzek. His head festooned with a Grassy garland, he looked for all the world like a victorious Caesar leading his legions in a battle charge.

Without investigating very far into the matter we have discovered that there are six other colleges represented here at the school besides alma mammy. These are Concordia, Carleton, North Dakota State College, Valley City Teachers, St. Catharines and Bemidji Teachers. There are others with students here no doubt which we have overlook-

Summer Sports Seek Larger Line-up List For Faithful Fans

Because of the large number of members on the campus, plans are being made to organize the Women's Athletic Association this summer. The association plans to give points to those participating in sports, to be applied towards memberships, letters or sweaters.

A large group of kittenball enthusiasts are taking part in that sport several times a week. Permanent teams are being organized and a tournament will be held the last two weeks of the session. Last week Pearl Askegaard's team defeated Pharnell Knutson's team 12-11.

Notices have been posted for a women's tennis tournament, under the supervision of Rachel Askegaard, who is in charge of women's recreational activities. All those interested in this sport are urged to sign up so that drawings can be made, as the courts are rapidly rounding into shape.

The faculty-graduate team proved to be too much for the undergraduates in their annual clash at the picnic Tuesday. Willard Burke, in charge of the men's activities, urges a larger turn-out of men for the tennis tournament and kittenball games.

Prexy Wins With Scottish Shamrock

Because of a cherished four-leaf clover and an unwary mosquito, eleven MSTC students were entertained a la ice cream and cakes in President MacLean's office last Wednesday afternoon.

No, no riddles . . . just a scavenger hunt at the school picnic last Tuesday. In short, Prexy R. B.'s scavenger hunting team lacked but two acquisitions for victory . . . a live mosquito and a four-leaf clover . . . and time was pressing. Bring-em-back-alive Urban Anderson fared forth among the insects, and after a bitter bare-handed struggle, captured the required specimen, and dragged it back to camp, bound foot and proboscis. There, chief-scavenger MacLean, ever forehanded, reached into his capacious wallet and produced a well preserved four-leaf clover, placed there for a wee-bit o' luck. This won the hunt and copped the 25 cent prize, to be divided among the eleven members of the team. Hoot mon!

Alpha Epsilon fraternity members held a meeting Wednesday evening in Room 206.

ed, but those mentioned are enough to give the campus quite a cosmopolitan touch.

The greedy, like the poor, are always with us. May the rat who at the picnic let his appetite run away with him (as well as three dixie cups), have the pangs of a burning conscience. His actions caused the hard working doctor of Philosophy, C. P. Archer to go without any ice cream. Shame, shame!!

Notice!

Chapel assembly this week will be held Tuesday at 9 a. m. instead of in the regular Wednesday hour with regular Wednesday classes scheduled, according to an announcement by President MacLean. John A. Bekker, a graduate student at the University of Chicago will speak on "Foreign Policy of the Soviet Union from 1917 to 1931."

Smiths Return

Gordon and Eugene Smith, who have been here visiting their aunt, Miss Mabel Lumley, last week returned to their home in Montevideo.

Gus and Bess

Editor's Note: From the MiSTiC of Sept. 23, 1927, is taken the following statement. The MiSTiC has through a secret source secured letters written by a College student to his folks back in the old-home town, telling of his experiences at M. S. T. C. The present staff, learning that Gus is back in school, has again obtained copies of his correspondence.

Men's Dorm M. S. T. C.,
Moorhead, Minn.,
June 22, 1937.

Mrs. Augustus Schwartz,
Podunk Siding, Winnesheik county,
Dear Bess:

I should have written sooner but have been quite busy since my arrival with social affairs. Strange as it may seem I am quite a sensation with girls. You would naturally think that a man who has been married for seven years would not cause much of a flutter among the fair sex. But then you know how it always was with me.

We went on an all-school picnic today. I was quite a success. I sang a solo. I overheard a fair young co-ed say, "How in the world did that bird ever get here?" I suppose she wonders why I am not in Hollywood, or someplace. We played softball. I did pretty good. I only missed one fly. If any more had come out there I bet that I would have caught them. I only struck out once too. It wasn't my fault that the bases were full. My memory must be getting bad. A lot of girls out there looked at me and laughed. They must be cuties who went to school with me ten years ago. I can't place them though.

I sleep with a whole bunch of fellows over here at the dorm. There is a lot of bums though; I can't borrow a cent from any of them. They must be saving it or something. I eat over at the dorm. The girls' dorm, that is. Now, don't get me wrong. That is all I do over there—eat. They have a funny system. You come in and stand behind your chair and pretty soon a bell rings and you dig your toes in and

Rabbi Heller Tells Of Jewish Faith In Assembly

Chautauqua Speaker Sums Up
Three Principles Of Jewish Faith In Talk

Last Wednesday, Rabbi Heller of the Jewish Chautauqua Society, Philadelphia, addressed the student body in Chapel on "Judaism's Contribution to the Needs of Today."

He pointed out that this age is not hypercritical, but undercritical. "This age is marked by spiritual pretenses and hypocrisy," he said. "We yearn for peace, yet we spend millions for armaments."

The "trinity of Israel's faith" may be summed up in these three principles of Judaism: first, a belief in monotheism, that is that God is the God of all men, and that He is universal; secondly, a belief in the preciousness of human personality and the sanctity of human life; and thirdly, a belief in the coming of an ideal kingdom here on earth. It is the belief in this third principle that the Jew refuses to stigmatize the world as evil, for it can be made beautiful and ideal.

Rabbi Heller concluded his address with these challenging words, "Despite color, man is one, and they are all brothers. If God is Father, all men are His children."

after about a minute it rings again and you race for the pantry to get your food.

I am taking a couple of subjects, but I haven't found out what they are about as yet. How are you getting along out on the farm? Tell Johnny and Willie, that I will bring them home a surprise when I return. Tell Mary to be a good girl and papa will bring her a couple of credits. She won't know what they are, but that's all right, I don't either. Watch that roan heifer so that she don't bloat on the sweet clover. I hope that you are keeping the corn cultivated in my absence. I would like to have a clean cornfield for once. If you have time you had better shingle the chicken coop. One of my classes is at 7:30 and I am going to try to get up in time to make it in the morning—I am kind of anxious to find out what it is all about.

You know it seems kind of funny to be writing to you after all these years. Do you remember how mad you used to get. I hope that you have outgrown all that foolishness. You know the girls never did bother me—much.

I will have to quit now for this time. Hoping that you are getting all the farm work done,

I remain,

Your loving husband,
Gus.

P. S. I pretty nearly made twenty-five dollars, but Braddock forgot to duck.

P. S. If you have any extra egg money you had better send it along. I'll probably need it.
